WHY PORCELAIN FOR HOSPITALITY

Porcelain stoneware is the considered surface choice for demanding commercial environments. Heat resistant, scratch resistant, stain resistant, and virtually maintenance-free, porcelain performs flawlessly through intensive daily use. Non-porous and hygienic, it delivers the refined aesthetic sophistication that luxury hospitality and retail environments demand.

A close-up, low-angle shot of a person's hand, wearing a dark blue sleeve, wiping a dark, polished, oval-shaped table with a light-colored cloth. The table has a subtle, light-colored veining pattern. In the background, several modern, light-colored chairs are visible, suggesting a restaurant or cafe setting. The lighting is warm and soft, creating a clean and professional atmosphere.

MAINTENANCE

Porcelain stoneware surfaces are virtually maintenance free, requiring no sealing or periodic re-sealing. This makes porcelain the considered specification for demanding hospitality and retail environments where surface appearance and hygiene standards must be maintained throughout intensive daily use.

For everyday cleaning, warm water and a soft microfibre cloth proves sufficient. For stubborn marks, use a non-abrasive cleaning product or standard commercial cleaner.

Avoid excessively acidic or alkaline products and abrasive sponges. For regular maintenance of hospitality and retail surfaces, we recommend specialist ceramic cleaning products from Fila Solutions and Lithofin, maintaining pristine surface appearance and hygienic cleanliness regardless of footfall or usage intensity.

MEETING YOUR SUSTAINABILITY GOALS

All porcelain surfaces are manufactured using sustainable processes that minimise environmental impact, conserving energy and natural resources. Surfaces are produced without harmful or radioactive materials, free from pollutant emissions, and will not affect air quality.

Where possible, heat generated during manufacturing contributes to energy self-sufficiency. All packaging is produced from recycled materials and waste associated with surface supply is fully recyclable. Manufactured from renewable source materials with no toxic or polluting substances, all products meet the highest standards of quality and environmental regulations.
